Zurich Airport

With around 700 bus and 200 GlattalBahn departures and 363 trains daily, Zurich Airport is one of Switzerland's best connected public transport junctions. In 2015, the airport was the point of departure, arrival or transfer for 26.3 million air passengers. They appreciate the dense and well-developed public transport network, as do the 25,000 individuals who work at the airport.

Whether by bus, postbus, GlattalBahn line or S-Bahn rapid transit train lines, travellers get where they need to go quickly and efficiently, with services every 7.5, 10, 15, 30 or 60 minutes to the most important destinations in the region. To and from Zurich main station, the GlattalBahn line no. 10 is complemented by numerous trains and S-Bahn lines. And over 70 cities can be accessed directly by Intercity train.

The GlattalBahn lines 10 and 12

The GlattalBahn line no. 10 seamlessly connects Zurich Airport via Glattpark, Zurich Oerlikon, Milchbuck and Irchel to Zurich main station with services running every 7.5 minutes; in the evening, on Sundays and public holidays, services run every 15 minutes. The GlattalBahn line no. 12 runs from the airport via Glattbrugg and the public transport hub at Wallisellen train station to the interchange at Stettbach train station with service every 15 minutes.

Line no. 12 provides easy and direct access to a number of shopping facilities. For instance, the Airport Center at the airport, Glatt shopping centre in Wallisellen – with access via a dedicated stop – along with various retail outlets in Dübendorf.
